DISTRICT OF INNOVATION

The Tyler ISD DOI plan includes flexibility in these key areas:

- School year start and finish dates;
- Minimum instructional minutes requirement for Pre-K and dropout prevention programs;
- Minimum attendance requirements for class credit or final grade;
- Teacher certifications;
- Employee probationary contracts;
- Class size requirements for kindergarten through fourth grade classrooms.

These are just a few of the major highlights included in the Tyler ISD District of Innovation plan to help the district realize its goal and vision of creating successful student outcomes. The Tyler ISD District of Innovation plan can be found in its entirety on the tylerisd.org website.

Dr. Marty L. Crawford joined Tyler ISD as Superintendent in 2014. Crawford holds a Bachelor of Education from Baylor University, a Master of Education from The University of Oklahoma and Doctor of Educational Administration from Texas A&M-Commerce. He currently serves on the Board of Directors with the Texas School Alliance, the Legislative Committee for the Texas Association of School Administrators, and as an advisor for Tyler's Mentoring Alliance.

Crawford recently served on the Texas Education Commissioner's Accountability Policy Advisory Committee. He was named an Ambassador for the School of Education at Texas A&M-Commerce, a LifeChanger Finalist by National Life, an Ambassador for the Friends of Texas Public Schools, and a Tyler Mentoring Alliance Champion of Youth.

A member of the Baylor University Athletics Hall of Fame, Dr. Crawford and his wife Alanna, are proud parents of three children who all attend Tyler schools; two daughters, Ashton, a nursing student at Tyler Junior College, and A.J., who is in second grade at Dr. Bryan C. Jack Elementary School; and one son, Jackson, who attends Robert E. Lee High School.
